

Mitchell Stevens

Professional Experience

Mitch Stevens is a trial lawyer with Jensen Bartlett & Schelp. His practice is concentrated in the areas of Civil Litigation and Federal Criminal Defense. Prior to entering private practice, he was a Federal Prosecutor and a Federal Administrative Law Judge. As an assistant U.S. Attorney he prosecuted, tried and defended complex, multi defendant cases usually involving financial, tax or white collar fraud. As an Administrative Law Judge he conducted hearings to determine disability as well as adjudicating Medicare issues.

Mitch has taught Trial Practice at St. Louis University, School of Law as an Adjunct Professor and is currently licensed to practice in Missouri, the United States District Court, Eastern District, and the United States Supreme Court.

Area of Competence

Administrative Law
Social Security
Business Litigation
Personal Injury
Employment
Commercial
Workers Compensation

Licensure

Missouri
U.S. District Court - Eastern District of Missouri

Availability for Service

St. Louis, MO
Jefferson City, MO
Champaign, IL
Chicago, IL

Professional Affiliations

The Missouri Bar Member,
St. Louis County Bar Association t

Education

University of Illinois, B.S. 1969
St. Louis University School of Law,
J.D., 1976
University of Missouri at Columbia,
Mediation Training, 2010
U.S. District Court and Washington
University, Advanced Mediation, 2011